Homecoming Queen Voting Closes Today

Voting for Homecoming Queen ends today and the eight contestants will be reduced to five after the votes are tallied to reveal the winner and her court of four princesses to be presented at the Homecoming Dance tomorrow night.

Students may still vote for their candidates today until 2 p.m. and tonight from 7 to 9 p.m. when voting ends in the quad.

The Women's Gym, decorated in the Roman Holiday theme, will be the scene of the official announcement and corbnation ceremony of the Homecoming Queen and dance.

President William J. McNelis will place the crown of royalty on the winner's head to signify the Homecoming Queen of 1959. Marge Dillon, Homecoming Queen of 1958, now Mrs. Charles Goeser, will then present a bouquet of roses to her successor.

The new queen and her court of four princesses will receive loving cups for their royal coronation titles with their names engraved on them.

The eight-piece band of Robert MacDonald, music instructor, will furnish the music for the dance. MacDonald's octet has performed at several other Valley functions, including the prom last year at the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

Before the new queen's coronation, the Hollywood Square Dancers will present an exhibition of their noted dance routines. Caller and director Homer Garrett's troupe consists of 8 to 16 dancers between the ages of 18 and 21 years.

Two separate units of the dancers have just returned from a tour with Jerry Lewis and a State Fair tour with Roy Rogers which recently ended at Madison Square Garden in October.

From five years of experience on a weekly TV show in Los Angeles called Western Varieties, the group's top numbers are an acrobatic routine in blacklight and an Ozark Jig take off of Li'l Abner and Daisy Mae.

Some of their recent engagements took place at the National Orange Show in San Bernardino; World's Fair in Brussels, Belgium; State fairs throughout the United States with Roy Rogers; and the Boston Gardens in Massachusetts.

The Hollywood Square Dancers have appeared on the Pat Boone Show, Milton Berle Show, Red Foley Show and a Chevy Spectacular in recent national TV hookups.

In the nightclub and hotel circuit, they have appeared at the Sands Hotel and the Flamingo in Las Vegas; Chez Paree in Chicago; Latin Quarters in New York; and the Statler hotels in Detroit and Cleveland.

Some local shows in which they have appeared include the Hollywood Bowl, Shrine Auditorium, Jonathan Club, Hillcrest Country Club, Biltmore and the Beverly Hilton.

The week-long reign of the Homecoming Queen reaches its climax at the big game against Bakersfield Nov. 13 on Monarch Field. The queen and

PHASE TWO BUILDING APPROVAL EXPECTED

Homecoming Dance Exhibits Roman Mode

Julius Caesar once said, "I came, I saw, I conquered!" If he could be present at tomorrow night's Roman Holiday, Homecoming dance, his now famous cliche would possibly change to "I came, I saw, I danced!" The traditional Homecoming Dance will be held in the women's gym at 9 p.m. tomorrow night. According to Tony Sydes, student body vice president, dress will be optional, either Roman attire or sporty dress. Sydes added as an incentive that a priez will be awarded to the person in the best Roman costume.

Decorations Show Theme

As the theme implies, decorations will be of Roman design. According to Kit Bissinger, member of the Homecoming committee, the women's gym will be adorned in Roman props such as Roman pillars, busts of Caesar, a Roman fountain and statues of Roman gods and goddesses.

Nina Royer, dean of student activities, said that the crowning of the Homecoming Queen will take place at the dance at approximately 10:15 p.m. She added that the Ugly Man contest winner would be announced at that time.

Eight Vie for Queen

Candidates vying for the Queenship in alphabetical order are: Arline Ballonoff, 19, Monarch Press Photographers Association and the Behavioral Science Club; Pat Balsano, 20, Sophomore Class; Marilyn Gonder, 18, Sport Car Club; Joan Griffith, 18, Spanish Club; Donna Hart, 19, Les Savants-Tau Alpha Epsilon; Sharon Leahy, 17, Newman Club; Karen McNamara, 18, Freshman Class and Linda Regal, 17, Art Club.

"A pretty girl is like a melody" is just what Robert MacDonald, music instructor, will try to prove tomorrow night with his octet. MacDonald's group will supply the musical entertainment from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight.

Panel Talks On Education

A panel of five students will attempt to answer the question "Are Valley Students Fumbling the Education Ball?" in this week's presentation of the Quad Wranglers at 11 a.m. today in the quad.

Bob Peak, Jim Cunningham, Sheldon Schriener, Bob Wulf and Teddi Reinherz will make up the wrangling panel for this special program, according to John Buchanan, speech instructor and sponsor of the group.

"Students are not taking advantage of the educational opportunities offered to them in college," said panelist Cunningham in reference to the choice of topics.

"Lack of interest in the Quad Wranglers program itself is some indiciation of the lack of interest in the other similar type features here at Valley," said Miss Reinherz.

Miss Reinherz said that any student interested in any aspect of public speaking should attend the regularly scheduled meetings of the Speech Club at 11 a.m. in Room B55 every Tuesday.

This organization is currently engaged in a membership drive, Miss Reinherz said. It is designed to help members develop speech techniques to foster an interest in current affairs and to organize students interested in speech are some of the goals of the club.

The club, if bolstered by increased membership, will sponsor a scholarship award each semester, Miss Reinherz said.

Harrison Appointed Council Secretary

Dave Harrison has been appointed associated student body secretary by the executive council.

The office was vacated two weeks ago by Louise Matta, who resigned because of attendance at UCLA and a unit load under the minimum requirement necessary to hold office.

Name Entertainers For Football Rally

The Eligibles, a singing group, will be the featured entertainers as Valley presents its annual homecoming rally next Thursday in the men's gym.

In addition to the Eligibles, the Monarch cheerleaders, along with various members of the football team will be on hand to add to the entertainment. Valley's band is also slated to appear.

The rally's purpose is to promote spirit for the homecoming football game the following Friday, Nov. 13.

Junior Colleges Keep Nine Game Schedule

Junior colleges in the state of California will continue to play their nine game football schedules, said William J. McNelis, Valley College president.

The athletic schedule change from 9 to 10 games for a football season that was under discussion at the Junior College Association's convention last week did not gain the three-fourths majority vote that was required for athletic issues, McNelis explained.

President McNelis and Dr. Stewart Marsh, dean of instruction, attended the California Junior College Association's annual meeting last week in Yosemite, Calif.

Attends Largest Confab

"This is probably the largest conference of this type I have attended," said McNelis. "All of the public colleges in the state were represented."

The conference theme, "The Meaning of Quality and Economy in Education," was expressed in many of the lectures during the two-day meeting, said Dr. Marsh.

Harlod L. Enarson, director of the Western Interstate Commission, told the conference that educators will achieve quality and economy not by talking but by acting in what he terms "the relentless pursuit of excellence."

Schools must define good education, said Enarson. A good text can excel over an instructor in knowledge, but instructors can interpret attitudes and values where a text cannot, continued Enarson.

Another athletic measure under discussion was the proposal of zoning junior colleges. One measure McNelis said had teeth in it:

"Under the zoning rule, athletes could not," said McNelis, "attend a high school in Oakland and attend a junior college in San Diego. The athlete would have to attend one of the nearest three junior colleges."

Hear Education Problems

The conference was unique in that members of both houses of the state legislature had an opportunity to hear the ideas and problems of the educators, and the educators, likewise, had an opportunity to hear the problems of the members of the legislature," said the president. "I have never noticed so many members of the legislature at a junior college conference before."

During another discussion, State Senator Donald L. Grunksy said that the state legislature does not plan to establish new state colleges or branches of the University of California near locations where "adequate" junior college facilities have been provided.

String Quartet To Play Haydn

Due to the presentation of the Homecoming Queen candidates at an assembly last Tuesday, the Campus Concert scheduled for that day has been postponed until 11 a.m. today in Room B74, said Miss Lorraine Eckardt, music instructor.

The program will feature the Valley College String Quartet playing "The Lark, Opus 64, No. 5" by Haydn.

Harpist Mrs. Betty Rhoades, wife of Valley College math and music instructor Lauren Rhoades, will perform during the concert.

String Quartet members include Charl Ann Raglin, first violin; Erwin Johnson, second violin; LeRoy Preminger, viola; and Angus MacDonald, cello.

Second in the series of Campus Concerts will feature Miss Eckardt playing the piano music of Claude Debussy, Nov. 10.

The Choir and Madrigal Singers, directed by Richard Knox, have also been rescheduled to perform Nov. 17. Both the second and third concerts will be held at 11 a.m. in Room B74.

File Deadline Today For State Grants

Today is the deadline to file application for one of 2560 $600 State Scholarship Commission grants. Last minute .. ntries may be filed with Frank Pagliaro in Administration C122.

After filing application, prospective scholarship winners will be required to take the scholarship aptitude test on one of the following dates: Dec. 5, 1959, or Jan. 9, 1960.

Students interested in receiving one of the Commision's grants for tuition and other necessary fees at any accredited two or four year college in California, must meet the qualifications set up by the board.

Stadium Ready For Homecoming

After two years of red tape, postponements and strikes, among other delays, permanent bleacher facilities in the Valley College stadium will be dedicated prior to the Valley-Bakersfield Homecoming game Nov. 13 at 7:45 p.m.

Associated Student Body President Paul Cocciante, Valey College President William J. McNelis, former Valley President and now Assistant Superintendent in Charge of Higher Education in Los Angeles Walter Coultas, Valley's Homecoming Queen; and Pete Holt, Tom Maguire and Dick Cholakian, football co-captains, will participate in the pre-game ceremony.

Contract Is Brought Before Board Today

BY KEN INOUYE
Star Staff Writer

Valley's Phase II building construction is expected to get under way within two weeks following a recommendation to be made today to the Los Angeles Board of Education by the office of the Superintendent of Schools.

The Superintendent today is expected to recommend to the Board of the Committee of the Whole acceptance of the lowest bid of $3,113,000, submitted by the Stanton-Reed Company of Alhambra.

Actual awarding of the contract is expected by the Board Monday. Eight companies submitted bids for the job.

1961 Completion Date

After the contractor is notified of the action, he will be given 450 calendar days to complete the job. Completion of the project should take place early in 1961.

It is expected that the contractor will begin work in the week beginning Nov. 17.

Included in the Phase II contract will be the construction of the cafeteria, Men's Gym, theater-arts building containing a little theater, maintenance facilities and additional ground improvements.

Buildings Canceled

Construction of the music and biological sciences buildings originally planned for Phase II, will be postponed from this contract due to the lack of necessary funds.

From the $3,113,000 bid, $2,919,000 will be appropriated for the construction of building facilities and $193,200 will be spent on landscaping and parking additions.

Funds for the Phase II construction project came from the 1958 bond issue, which Los Angeles voters approved by the required two-thirds majority.

Prior to the bond election, which was held June 3, the Valley Star was actively engaged in bringing the needs of the college to the voters.

It was predicted at the time that Valley's full-time enrollment would reach the 8000 mark by 1970. The current enrollment has exceeded the 4000 mark for the first time.

The first phase of Valley's building program included the recently completed administration, library, chemistry, foreign language, physics and engineering buildings.

School Population Growing

According to the Southern California Research Council, 25 per cent of the total population of Southern California will be enrolled in schools and colleges by 1970.

The current student enrollment in Los Angeles City Schools is nearly 650,000. This total is greater than the total state populations of either Delaware, New Hampshire, Wyoming or Vermont.

Los Angeles now has the second largest student population in the nation and the largest geographical area of any city school district.

Indian Classic Films Monday

"Father Panchali," the story of a Brahman caste family in a poverty-stricken village, will screen Monday, Nov 16 at 8 p.m. in the Men's Gym.

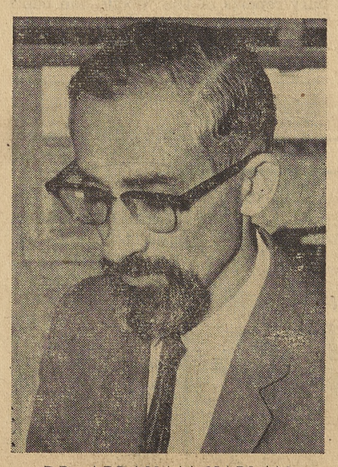
The film will be shown as the second in a seires of Monday museum films presented by the 1959-1960 Athenaeum.

Produced in 1952-53, the film is in black and white English sub-titles.

"Father Panchali" has won five grand prizes at film festivals from Cannes to San Francisco.

Each members of the family is portrayed in a naturalistic style. The father is a priest, an impractical, poetic man who earns what he can as a rent collector. The mother is a sensible, hard working but warm-hearted homemaker. The children include a school boy and teenage girl.

Dr. Kaplan To Talk on Morals



DR. ABRAHAM KAPLAN
Expounds on Morals

Lecturing on "The Basis of Moral Values," Dr. Abraham Kaplan, professor of philosophy at UCLA, will speak Monday at 8 p.m. in the Men's Gym.

Dr. Kaplan, past president of the American Philosophy Association, will appear as part of the 1959-60 Athenaeum Lecture, Film and Concert Series.

Author of many essays in professional and other journals, Dr. Kaplan has written several books.

His latest book, "American Ethics and Public in the American Style," was published by Harper's Brothers early in 1959.

Other books include "Esthetics" and "Social Philosophy."

Born in Russia in 1918, Dr. Kaplan earned his Ph.D. in philosophy at UCLA in 1942. He has taught philosophy at New York University and UCLA.

Since 1952, Dr. Kaplan has been chairman of the department of philosophy at UCLA.

In the past, Dr. Kaplan has been visiting professor of philosophy at Michigan University, Harvard University and Columbia University.

Dr. Kaplan was formerly a consultant for the Rand Corporation and for Ramo-Wooldridge.

Life Is Cheap

Many Americans who have toured the Orient are fond of an expression which goes something like this: "Life is so cheap in China" or "The cheapest thing in Asia is human life."

How valuable is life to us "enlightened" people?

What is the price we put on the gift of life here in California?

Well, the price, which varies in many cases, is usually 29.9 cents a gallon for regular and 34.9 for ethyl gasoline.

Slaughter on our highways sends the daily death toll higher and higher. Every hour of every day in the year a person is killed, crippled or maimed in an automobile accident.

Deaths caused by auto accidents are so impersonal and so commonplace that our populace is unconcerned or unmoved about them unless they are personally involved.

We chalk up the statistics of human suffering as if they are a necessary and vital part of our day to day existence.

The sorriest aspect of this wholesale murder is that nobody is doing anything about it.

Slogans, posters, radio announcements and mass appeals through every public medium seem to have no effect upon this nationwide problem.

Increased enforcement and better roads are two obvious but rather costly answers. But what is really needed, since the average driver seems to care little for his or anyone else's safety, is a devise to control speed of the vehicle in order to restrict the driver.

Statistics indicate that 80 to 90 per cent of auto deaths are the result of excessively high speed mishaps.

But realistically, who would support a program to limit the speed of cars to say 40 miles per hour.

Certainly not the Detroit manufacturers or the car dealers. Their sales depend upon convincing the consumer that he needs speed and horsepower in his auto for it to be a good investment.

So now we face the prospect of waiting for science to come up with an automatically controlled vehicle to put an end to this waste in human life.

These words will be forgotten almost as soon as they are read, but think about this. You'll be forgotten as quickly if your name becomes another traffic statistic.

Ryan O'Bryan, The Monarch Lion, Romps With Band and Monarchettes

BY PAT WILLETT
Star Staff Writer

Ryan O'Bryan, the Valley College lion, romps again!

The name, officially bestowed on Valley's lion mascot in 1952, has been lost in an anonymous shuffle of general names such as "The Monarch Lion," and "The Lion Mascot."

"I wish people would forget that silly name," said John Prescott, commissioner of athletics. "So far as I'm concerned, the mascot is just called Monarch the Valley lion."

That same spirit of a nameless lion prevailed for the first two years of Valley's existence. When the student body voted the Monarch school name with the lion as a symbol, they neglected to name the mascot lion.

After two years of anonymity, the student body and the Star got together in a written campaign for names. Students brought up a choice of Val-Leo, Loop the Lion, Ace, King Leo and Ryan O'Bryan the Monarch lion.

The first vote for a name, combined with student body constitution changes, brought out such a scattered sampling of voters that the election had to be run a second time.

Ryan O'Bryan came out on top in the second ballot without a clear majority, but the Executive Council adopted the title as the official name of Valley's lion mascot. Only a few votes separated Ryan from the titles of Val-Leo or Loop, with King Leo and Ace bringing up the rear.

Freshman Nancy Nelson, who submitted the final name to the Editor's Mailbox, was as surprised at the results as most students are at hearing the name today.

Then, as though the title of Ryan O'Bryan wasn't enough, the Executive Council decided that the lion was doing too much flirting with the song leaders. They promptly created a "Rosie Lion" to flirt with the football players and keep a careful eye on the capricious Ryan.

Rosie, according to the council, was to be fitted with a large, flower-covered hat to keep her up to style. Ryan was to be fitted with a fine mane as his symbol of authority over the domineering Rosie.

Somehow in recent years the name of Ryan O'Bryan has been lost. Even Ken Gulko, who played the lion at the first of the semester didn't know the official title of the mascot.

"I think it's a good name for a lion," Gulko said. "I don't see why we don't hear it more often."

What would the San Diego Knights think if they knew they had an Irish Ryan O'Bryan in their midst when they stole the lion's head for the San Diego game?

Ryan is back on campus again and flirting with song leaders, football players, Monarchettes and band members again. Rosie has since faded from popular sight, but Ryan no longer needs his female companion to keep him out of trouble. Rosie now has inside contacts.

The female side of the Valley student body is now running Ryan completely. Judy Temkin and Sharon Leahy, Valley coeds, have replaced Gulko as the working force of the lion and alternate the position each game.

But the distaff side of Ryan O'Bryan is well disguised by rather shapeless sweat shirt and sweat pants, so the name is still appropriate.

Ryan is left in the background this Homecoming in comparison with his place at the head of the queen's float in 1955. Instead of scampering before the stands, he kneeled at his queen's feet and heralded her majesty before the stands.

But when Ryan comes out at the Homecoming game this year, at least he won't be nameless—not with a tag like Ryan O'Bryan around!

'Baby' Lion Makes Scene; Local Journalists Scream

Once upon a time Valley had a real lion at a Homecoming football game. Once was enough!

The sight of Jackie, an overgrown lion cub rented from the Jungle Compound in Thousand Oaks, sent community journalists scurrying to their editorial desks condemning the presence of a live, "dangerous" lion on a football field.

Actually, Jackie, a 200-pound "baby" lion, proved as docile as the ordinary house variety feline. He cavorted through a game of football with trainer Melvin Koontz, lolled over the shoulders of friendly cheerleaders and winked at the queen.

Movie-goers and audiences at animal acts at the Jungle Compound are familiar with the routine where the trainer hauls the bored, 200-pound hunk of lion around by the tail. Jackie may be big enough to cause trouble with the teeth and claws cited in local editorials, but his personality is hardly ferocious.

"By unanimous opinion of several experienced big game hunters and wild animal trainers, Jackie's place is in a cage, not on a football field," wrote local journalists.

In reply, the Star cited trainer Koontz' years of experience in training lions for public appearances.

Jackie was rented with no idea of the controversy he would raise in the community and at Valley. Preliminary reports of the "docile lion cub" to romp at the game gained complete approval. Nobody bothered to mention how fast lions grow.

The gaping mouths and red faces started when the "cub," 200-pound Jackie, came galloping onto the field.

During the game Jackie clowned around before the stands on a chain with his trainer in tow. At halftime, however, Jackie was unleashed to romp unhindered.

That was enough for community journalists, who promptly hit their typewriters in anti-Jackie campaigns.

Since then Valley has used student "lions" with yarn tails and no growl. They probably aren't much safer, but it saves the administration a few aspirin bottles.

Ceremony Called Modest

After having a 10-year dream of permanent buildings realized, Valley is quietly preparing for modest dedication ceremonies Dec. 3.

While Valley is scheduled to have Vincent Sheehan, famous author and correspondent, as the guest speaker Dec. 3, Los Angeles City College has lined up Vice President Richard Nixon to deliver an address tomorrow morning at the dedication of the college's new first phase.

There is also the strong possibility that Governor "Pat" Brown and Mayor Norris Poulson will put in an appearance at the City College ceremonies.

Sheehan is the author of more than 15 books and has worked as a reporter and foreign correspondent for the New York Daily News, Chicago Tribune, and Chicago Daily News. Sheehan did on the spot reporting of Mussolini's march on Rome in 1922 and devoted much effort in exposing the dangers of fascism.

Despite this impressive background, Sheehan is not the Vice President of the United States, the Governor of California or even the Mayor of Los Angeles.

Mrs. June Biermann, head librarian, who has been looking forward to the construction of a permanent library for almost five years, began planning for a library dedication last March. However, no ceremonies were formulated for the remaining six buildings of Phase I.

On Oct. 23 a staff committee under the direction of Robert Cole, dean of special services, was formed to examine the possibility of holding dedication ceremonies for all Phase I structures.

Findings of the committee have caused Mrs. Biermann's long-planned event to be converted into a dedication program for Phase I. As a result the program will have a distinct literary flavor.

To counterbalance City College's apparent abundance of political figures, five San Fernando Valley congressmen and asemblyman will be invited to attend the local fete.

In one respect Valley is ahead of LACC, that of having Nixon speak on campus. During a political campaign, a Nixon speech that won't be forgotten for many years was televised from the Men's gymnasium.

It was on that occasion that Nixon uttered his now famous "What the hell's going on here?" statement when a director confused him while signaling how much time he had remaining on the air.

The Vice President's appearance at City College after he has delivered speeches at the University of Chicago and Oregon State indicates that junior colleges are at last gaining some national recognition and respect.

Valley College was once a leader in gaining recognition for junior colleges with such prominent speakers as Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, General Carlos Romulo, Willey Ley and Samuel Hayakawa addressing students and faculty. Earl Clement Attlee and Dr. Abraham Kaplan will speak in the near future.

But Valley has let Los Angeles City College take over the reigns of leadership in the struggle for recognition and respect.

"After wanting buildings for 10 years there should be some sort of fireworks," said Mrs. Biermann. And so there should be.

Cell 23 Revisited

Has the passage of time changed public opinion in the Chessman case?

Eleven years ago the headlines blazed forth with words of Chessman's brutal and sordid attacks on young women.

Now cries of clemancy have arisen from thousands of Chessman's sympathizers. Eleanor Roosevelt and Aldous Huxley have asked mercy for Chessman. The Vatican in Rome, the American Civil Liberties Union and the Quaker Friends Committee supported this cause.

However, a delay in justice does not exonerate a man from the crimes he has committed in the past.

Tom Haines, in his letter in Lion's Roar on Oct. 29, feels that I took a "blind man's look at our court of law."

When I wrote that Chessman's guilt was unmistakeable, I thought I made it clear that this was my opinion of the case.

After reading an account of the trial and newspaper articles, I found that many victims refused to testify for fear of publicity.

But the testimony of two women was sufficient to sentence Chessman to death under the "Little Lindberg Law." This was not a case of circumstantial evidence.

Is it fesaible that these victims would send an innocent man to the gas chamber?

Chessman appealed the decision of the courts on the grounds that the record of the court trial was inaccurate. His appeals were not based directly on his guilt or innocence.

These appeals were referred to the U.S. Supreme Court and additional appeals sent to other courts. All have been turned down.

How many times in the past has a rich man gone to the gas chamber?

Maines wrote than Chessman wasn't showing contempt for the law governing the trial. But as soon as Chessman entered San Quentin he began looking through law books to find loopholes in the law. This I consider a mockery of justice.

Maines also wrote that "it seems he put an awful lot of faith in a judge and a panel of citizens who are human and can make mistakes."

This is true. If a citizen cannot put faith in the court system of the United States, what can he put faith into?

Many of our country's soundest principles are based on the court system. Without these principles the government would crumble.

Maines writes that a person who is about to kill is not in the frame of mind to give thought to any consequences.

Agreed, but that type of person is not the type I was referring to. Capital punishment makes the younger, immature, would-be criminal think twice before committing such a crime. Of course, the warped mind of the experienced criminal could not be swayed by such a threat.

Editor:

I was one of the 10 members of a delegation that represented Valley College at the 1959 Southern California Junior College Student Government Association Regional Convention held at East Los Angeles City College Saturday.

It was stimulating experience, and I sincerely wish each Valley student could have shared it.

Of course, I was impressed by the excitement and the air of importance generated by this gathering of enthusiastic student leaders. However, the reason for this letter is to relate to Valley students what impressed me personally the most. I made a point of talking to as many different people as possible and in doing so found out that Valley's student activities and student government methods are far more advance than nearly all of the junior college that were represented.

The workshops revealed that Valley is already practicing almost every suggestion that was offered for improvement and in a lot of cases had additional suggestions to donate.

Inspired by this knowledge, I wish to let Valley students know that they have reason to be very proud of Valley College.

'Magazines for Friendship' Drive Enters Second Week

Pushing toward the goal of 10,000, the "Magazines for Friendship" drive enters its second week.

The drive to collect magazines, which will be sent overseas in the hopes of counteracting communist propaganda, was launched Friday by the Knights. The drive will continue until Friday, Nov. 13.

"If every student would follow through his intentions to bring magazines, I'm sure the drive will be a success," said Frank Kaplan, Knights' chairman for the "Magazines for Friendship" drive.

Originally the idea of professor Albert Croissant of Occidental College, Los Angeles, "Magazines for Friendship" received the Award of Merit from the United States government.

The following magazines have been recommended for sending:

Atlantic, American Girl, American Home, Better Homes & Gardens, Boys' Life, Business Week, Coronet, Cosmopolitan, Farm Journal, Field & Stream, Fortune, Good Housekeeping, Harper's, Holiday, House Beautiful, House & Garden, Ladies Home Journal, Life, Look, Mechanic Illustrated.

McCall's, Mademoiselle, National Geographic, National Parent-Teacher, Nation's Busniess, NY Times Magazine, NY Times Book Review, NY Herald-Tribune Books, Newsweek, New Yorker, Pageant, Parents' Magazine, Popular Mechanics, Popular Science, Reader's Digest, Redbook.

Saturday Review, Saturday Evening Post, Science Digest, Scientific American, Science and Mechanics, Seventeen, Sports Illustrated, Sunset, Sucessful Farming, Time, Today's Woman, US News & World Report.

Magazines may be deposited in the trash-dumpster any hour, day or night, located at the intersection between the old and the new buildings.

'Ugly' Contest Ends Today

Voting to find the most popular, unpopular or ugly man on campus ends today in the Quad.

Ballots, priced at one cent each, will be cast from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 6:30 to 9 p.m. at a booth in the Quad. The contest is sponsored by Beta Phi Gamma.

Winner of the Ugly Man contest will be announced and crowned along with the Homecoming Queen at the Homecoming Dance Friday in the Women's Gym.

Eight students have signed for the Ugly Man contest. Their names in alphabetical order and their sponsoring clubs follow: Al Breen, Newman Club; Tom Fennell, Newman Club; Ken Gulko, Art Club; Chuck Hill, Sophomore Class; Pete Holt, Big V; Mike Kline, Sport Car Club; Art Weisman, Spanish Club; and Fed Tish, the Group.

Prizes include two free dinners at Ludlow's Restaurant, 12958 Victory Blvd., North Hollywood; two free dinners at the Golden Bull, 12749 Ventura Blvd., Studio City; six general admission theater passes to the Fox Theater in Van Nuys; a five dollar gift certificate from Wasserman's Men's Wear, 12855 Victory Blvd., North Hollywood; three record albums from Schirmers, 6531 Van Nuys Blvd., Van Nuws; a sport shirt from Kirk's, 6420 Van Nuys Blvd., Van Nuys; a pass book good for a free cup of espresso at 30 beatnik houses in the Los Angeles area; a Crown, Valley College yearbook; and an 8½x11 color self-portrait of the winning ugly man.

Writers' Club Asks Donation

Donations are piling up in preparation of the Second Annual Book Collector's Auction and Bazaar, to be staged Nov. 19 and 20 as a joint project of Valley's English and Writers' Clubs.

Numerous special books including rare religious and historical editions are being collected along with antiques, art supplies, ceremanics, jewelery, records, sheet music, plants, scripts, toys and maps. The articles will be sold at the Bazaar on a "first come-first serve" basis, or at the auction Friday, Nov. 20.

Boxes for donations have been placed in the library, quad, and the teacher's mail room. Donors needing help in delivering donations may drop a note in one of the boxes, listing their name, address and phone number.

"There will be thousands of items on sale, including new merchandise which has been donated by local business," said Ruth Kranhaus, Writers' Club president.

The event will feature the auction of rare books and valuable works of art by prominent contemporary painters, including Flavio Cabral, Albert du Aime and John S. Scott.

The bazaar last year raised over $500 for scholarship funds.

Engineering Building Provides Advantages

(Editor's note: This is the last in a series of feature articles dealing with the Phase I construction on Valley's new campus.)

By ROGER BACON
Star Staff Writer

To provide students and teachers with the comforts and advantages of modern education, new buildings are beginning to replace the bungalows that have "adorned" the Valley campus the past 10 years.

The Engineering building, which occupies the No. 1 spot on "education row," contains 10 large classrooms and advance equipment for instruction in the engineering field.

Maurice Deutsch, head of the engineering department, commented on his new home:

"This building along with the others takes care of the immediate expansion of the college."

When asked how he felt about environmental conditions increasing or decreasing a student's work, Deutsch agreed that comfortable surroundings and better atmosphere tend somewhat to make for a more contented student and therefore increases in his studies. This only applies to those who have the will in the first place.

One important feature of the building is that the machine shop is built adjacent to the drafting rooms.

This provides the students with the realization of drawing for a machine and operator they are familiar with.

The machine shop, first course of its kind ever offered at Valley, will provide students with full shop curriculum. Units can be transferred for lower division credits at Cal Poly, which also stresses this type of instruction.

Universities in the immediate area, including UCLA, do not have this course.

The shop teaches the student the application of engineering by combining the two phases of engineering —the technical and theoretical.

The technical is the actual application of engineering while the theoretical is the planning or the theory.

This gives engineers the knowledge of the "how" and not just the "why."

Newest addition to the Engineering building, the gas welding machine, has just recently arrived.

Other new machines are expected before the semester is too far progressed.

The ivy on the brown walls is absent, but it is a far advance over the bungalows loaned Valley by Van Nuys High School when the college used to share the campus of the secondary school in 1949.

Monarchs To Open 'Crucial' Set at Long Beach

BY CRAIG ALTSCHUL
Star Sports Editor

In second place and still in position for a darkhorse shot at the Metropolitan Conference crown, Valley's Monarchs move into the final three games of the regular season.

The first of the "crucials" takes place Saturday evening in Veterans' Memorial Stadium in Long Beach, the second against unbeaten, untied Bakersfield a week later on Monarch Field in Homecoming, and finally a Corsair Field battle with defending Junior Rose Bowl champs, Santa Monica.

Long Beach has beaten East Los Angeles and Harbor and has suffered losses to potentialy Rose Bowl bound Bakersfield and Santa Monica. The Monarchs have beaten San Diego, East Los Angeles and Harbor, while the only Valley loss has been to El Camino.

Seven games have been played in the series, and Valley holds the edge in the win column, four games to three. However, since 1955, Valley has not won a game from the Vikings.

Chuck Wennekamp carried off the "most valuable freshman" award last fall at Long Beach for his job at tackle and is back again this year. Pete Yoder at quarterback and Bob Novotny at center have both received "Viking of the Week" award.

Monarch coach Al Hunt has named a starting lineup for Saturday's "must" that includes Jim Zar and Bob Wohlford at ends, Tom Maguire and Bob Zuliani at tackles, Dick Allen and Dick Cholakian at guards, Don Rendall at center, Pete Holt and Joe Sutton at halfbacks. Phil Romoli at quarterback and Howie Smith at fullback.

Valley will enter the contest at full strength with Al Davison returning after a bout with the flu, and Tom Pullford coming back after missing several practices last week.

The long awaited completion of the stadium is nearing, and Valley and Bakersfield will square off in the Lion Homecoming game.

It was easy pickin's for Valley Saturday on Monarch Field and nearly everybody got into the winning act. The Monarchs turned away hapless East Los Angeles College 33-17 as Joe Sutton and Co. romped to an easy victory before a meager turnout of about 1000 witnesses.

Sutton set a record and tied an existing one in the lopsided win. He scored three times and picked up 18 points to tie Tom Uyeda's record of 18 set in game with Harbor in 1956.

In the second quarter of play against the Huskies, Sutton took off on an 88-yard touchdown run that was the best of his collegiate career. The run broke Dick Sanita's record of 74 yards set last fall. The old standard was set against East LA.

East LA got off to a good early start as it marched downfield to the Valley nine-yard line, where on fourth down, James Sherrard kicked a field goal giving the Huskies the lead 3-0.

The Huskie advantage was short-lived, however, as Valley took over immediately. After moving the ball 61 yards downfield in six plays on runs by Smith, Sutton and Holt Sutton scored on an 18-yard sprint. Phil Romoli added the extra point.

At the onset of the second period, Mike Fly recovered a Frank Gomez fumble on the Huskie 17 yard line. From here it took the Monarchs four plays to score with Bob Freis plunging over from the one-yard marker for the score. Romboli's kick attempt for the PAT failed.

A few moments later, Valley had the ball again, and Sutton ran his 88 yards. A pass from Romoli to Zar for the PAT was misesd.

Just before the half ended, Holt intercepted a pass from Frank Gomez and ran it back 55 yards for another Valley touchdown. Freis added the PAT by catching a pass from Tom Mann.

The last Monarch touchdown came just as the third period got underway. Valley moved 59 yards in 11 plays with Sutton carrying the ball over from the four yard marker. A pass play for the conversion was missed.

East LA scored in the fourth period on a one-yard dive by Gomez after Dave Shirley had moved the ball to Valley's six-yard line on a punt return. The conversion failed.

Gomez hit Frank George with a 31-yard pass for the evening's final score and a pass from Gomez to Don Demps added the PAT.

Distance Men Meet Rugged 'Gade Team

After finishing seventh in the annual Mt. San Antonio distance classic last week, the Monarch harriers will face the Mt. SAC winners—Bakersfield—tomorrow at Long Beach

The Lion squad, paced by Steve Matthews, Angelo Corallis, Walt Lewis and Tom Webb, will engage two of the top powers of the Metropolitan Conference in Bakersfield and Long Beach, said Coach Charles Mann, cross country coach.

During the West Coast cross country classic, which Dale Story, national prep mile record holder won, the Valley harrier squad placed five runners in the top 100 spots. More than 200 runners started the race.

Although the Valley team is now 2-1, the Lions are working for an upper division final standing in the conference.

Good Chance

"The results of the final meets depend on Matthews' improvement," said Mann. "With Corallis getting into condtiion along with Matthews, we have a good chance to finish in the upper division."

Bakersfield and East Los Angeles College have powerful front runners as shown in Mt. SAC. Bakersfield's top runner placed second and ELA's third. "Bakersfield should go undefeated in the conference and in the State, while East Los Angeles also has a good squad," said Mann.

In the Mt. SAC race, Valley runners avenged their earlier and only loss to Pierce and El Camino by beating both distance squads by large margins. The Lions beat Pierce by 35 points and El Camino by 40.

Lions in Coast Meet

In the future after the Metropolitan Conference meet, the Valley squad will run in the Orange Coast National Invitational. Times of the winners of this race will be sent around the country with the final times calculated for the national championship.

"I hope to surprise the field in the Orange Coast race," said Matthews. "I can work out now, and I hope to be in good shape by that time."

Matthews missed earlier meets due to a back injury that still causes him trouble on long distance races.

Results: Bakersfield 42, Santa Ana 79, East Los Angeles 86, Mt. San Antonio 116, Cerritos 151, Glendale 185, Valley College 232, Orange Coast 233, Fullerton 251, Pierce 263.

Lion Sabers Vie In Samo Meet

Valley will send one team to the Amateur Fencer's League of America saber championship, held tomorrow night at 8 p.m. at Santa Monica YMCA.

The team, consisting of Larry Berman, Arnie Gottlieb, Frank Kaplan and Marty Katz, will fence, among others, teams from Salle de Vince and Faulkner's Studios.

Last Friday night, fencers Berman, Gottlieb, Katz, Lenny Lieber and Bob Zarit competed in the AFLA unclassified, individual saber championship. Encountering some strong opposition, they were eliminated in the preliminary bouts.

"Our main purpose this year is to obtain experience," said Coach John Tatum. "Next year when we enter Inter-Collegiate Competition, we want to be in the best form possible."

The highlight of next semester's fencing endeavors will probably again be a trip to San Francisco where last year the Monarchs fenced eight separate colleges, finishing second.

Cagers Prepare To Open

As football is getting set to bow out of the Valley College spotlight in the next several weeks, basketball is just beginning. Coach Ralph Caldwell has what can only be called a large question mark.

Even though Caldwell is low in returning lettermen from last year's squad, he still has the makings of a pretty fair squad. Several former prep stars will augment the returnees and Valley should have a good representative team.

As usual, the basketball schedule features a set of rugged games and certainly Valley has as good a chance as anyone else.

Caldwell has said that in this conference, returning strength is not too heavy at any one school and he is happy with the team's progress to date.

After watching the Valley teams all summer in a pretty tough league with Pepper Tree Inn (UCLA), Casa Escobar (SC) and Foster's Sporting Goods (Valley State) and the Brahmas (Pierce) among others, I was impressed, not only with the returnees, but the freshmen as well.

Especially outstanding at Van Nuys High School where he was an All-City star last year was Jack Hirsch. He hasn't lost any of his playing ability and could be a fine ball player.

Oliver Carter and Lloyd Higgins are both from Manual Arts and looked good this summer.

Mike Violette and Roger Marshall sparked San Fernando to the City High School Playoffs last year and both looked good in summer league. John Walker is in from Roosevelt and Steve Runyon from North Hollywood and finally Dick Hagemann from Birmingham.

The only three returning lettermen are Ted Fish, Keith Buchanan and Nick Bono, who was injured on the return train trip from the San Diego football game when a light dome shattered in his hand.

JV has sent up Bob Avants and Al Walsby. Ex-serviceman Tom Eggleston and Carens Melton are in practice along with returning squad member Joe McKenna.

* * *

It seems a shame that there will be no busses for the student body down to Long Beach. Here it is probably one of the most important Valley College football games in years, and the Executive Council hasn't delved into the matter of renting busses to save students the long haul to Veterans' Memorial Stadium.

The council should have learned how to handle the situation easily after the long hassle it went through getting the San Diego trip arranged.

Head cheerleader Al Breen had to go so far as getting a petition of about 175 signatures to convince the council that students wanted to go to the game.

Right now, the Executive Council should make plans for Santa Monica. Let's not go through this hassle again. How about it?

Once Around the Conference . . .

Big Metropolitan Conference football news last week highlighted Bakersfield College's 26-6 win over San Diego JC for their fourth straight '59 conference victory and Coach Joe Berry's Harbor College win over El Camino College, 22-6.

The Harbor victory was their first in conference play and temporarily sidetracked El Camino in its march to the flag. In other important tilts last week, Valley College remained in crown contention by running up a 33-17 score against East Los Angeles and Santa Monica regained its winning ways at Long Beach's expense, 26-12.

Miyoshi's pet target is end Wincer Willhoite who has caught three passes for TDs this year. Big power gun for Santa Monica is back George Hughley, top Metro scorer with 48 points.

Polos Smash Victory Ice; Face Pirates

Defeating Bakersfield 19-11 for its first Metropolitan Conference victory in three years, the Valley water polo squad is awaiting its season finale with Santa Monica at the Corsairs' pool a week from tomorrow.

Returning to action after a three-week layoff due to a neck infection, Chuck Butler, Valley's holeman, sparked the Lions with 10 points in the victory over the Renegades Friday. The 10 points in the 'Gade match are a personal high for Butler in conference play. His 12 points in the Mt. SAC match, a non-conference game, is his highest output in three seasons.

Pierce Scores Six

Other scoring in the Bakersfield match for Valley was done by Glen Pierce with 6, John Weger with 2 and Al Jacoby with 1.

An incentive for victory, Coach Ray Follosco points to the fact that a win over Santa Monica would put the Monarchs in sole possession of third place and if they lose to the Corsairs they would end up in a tie for third place with Santa Monica and Bakersfield.

In any event, the Monarchs are assured of third place and this will be the highest standing they've achieved in three years of play in the Metropolitan Conference.

Lions Lose

In other action this week, the Lions lost to El Camino 23-4. In this game the scoring was done by Mike Johnson, 2 and Glen Pierce, 2.

Sizing up the crucial match with the Corsairs next week, Follosco points to one hazard that will be facing the Lion offense. This will be the very shallow pool the Monarchs will be forced to play in at Santa Monica.

Bothersome Rules

In water polo rules, it states that the holeman shall not touch the bottom of the pool while he is in the act of shooting. And this could be very bothersome to the Lions' holeman Butler who is used to playing in the deeper pool at Birmingham high school.

One bright spot Follosco points to is the return to the lineup of his fine goalie Al Keubler who has been out with an ear infection. So barring the disadvantage in the depth of the pool, Follosco points for the first victory over Santa Monica in Valley's water polo career.

Wrestling Slated For New Valley Gym

Wrestling will debut at Valley. The Men's Physical Education Dept. at Valley is working on forming a wrestling team that would meet teams such as El Camino, Long Beach, East Los Angeles and UCLA.

The start of this team would coincide to the opening of the new men's gym which is to take place some time near February 1961. Before the wrestling team is formed, there will be a wrestling class.

Alphas Knotted In 'Mural Play

Alpha League intramural football ended in a tie and it looks as if the Beta League, which ends today, will also deadlock, said Ray Follosco, intramural sponsor.

The Ramblers and the Group tied in the Alpha League with one loss each.

If the Beta League does end in a tie, an inter-league playoff will be necessary to decide the intramural champion.

The last Beta League games which will be played pit the Bruins against the Ends, Phi Delta Psi and the Braves, the Sport Car Club and the Dolphins.

Last week the Bruins defeated Phi Delta Psi, 12-0; the Ends whipped the Car Club, 15-0; and the Dolphins toppled the Braves, 25-6.

Intramural badminton has been canceled the last few Tuesdays because the gym was being used, said Follosco, but play will resume in singles if there are enough players.

The date for the start of basketball is not yet determined, but anyone interested in playing intramural basketball may see Follosco in the men's gym.

Stars Glow Dim As News Wins

Typos of the East Los Angeles journalism department gained an early revenge when they defeated the Valley Stars 19-0 in a football classic.

This battle of the typos was played prior to the Lion-Huskie game on the Monarch Field last Saturday.

Although hometown refereeing and quick whistles were provided, the Stars could not produce a score.

For revenge, a challenge has already been issued to the Campus News for a "get-even" basketball game.
